The secret to maintaining beautiful skin is not only related to eating well and exercising. In fact, even women who are in great physical shape and watch their diet often find that their skin begins to deteriorate once they reach a certain age.

However, there is a way to prevent your skin from drying up and showing your age. You can defy aging by using Petal Dew Facial Mud Masque, the most effective mud mask on the market today.

Why a Mud Mask?

Through the years, your skin becomes exposed to adverse conditions such as sunlight, cold, chapping, scarring, and drying. The inevitable fact of aging further adds to the destruction of your skin, making it seem almost impossible to preserve good skin.

That is why it is necessary to use a mud mask, which helps preserve your precious skin and makes it last longer against the various detrimental conditions. Mud masks have been more successful than any other skin care product in preserving skin and keeping it healthy.

The History Behind Petal Dew Facial Mud Masque

During the 1980s, Dr. Ernst Ziller noticed that many of his patients complained about the rapid deterioration of their skin. Although many of them were already using mud masks, their skin showed relatively few signs of progress and many were not satisfied with the skin care products available on the market.

Dr. Ziller decided that women needed a mud mask that not only effectively treated aging skin, but also kept it healthy for years to come. Gathering a group of the world's most respected dermatologists and scientists, he embarked on a mission to create what would become Petal Dew Facial Mud Masque.

It took five years and the diligent efforts of the doctors to create Petal Dew Facial Mud Masque. It has been on the market in Europe and North America for more than three years and is hailed by consumers and skin care professionals as being the best mud mask.
